THE TASK OF PRESERVING OUR COLD WATER FISHERIES LIES WITH OUR YOUTH

TROUT WATERS YOUTH CAMP 2023

JUNE 25-30

for Girls & Boys 14-17

The New York State Council is proud to host the 2023 Trout Water Youth Camp at Big Valley Lodge. This is near the West Branch of the Delaware River at Hale Eddy, NY. The Camp will start Sunday, June 25 and conclude Friday, June 30.

The Delaware River system

The Delaware River system is composed of the East Branch, West Branch, and Main Stem of the Delaware River. The entire system is influenced by cold water releases from two large New York City reservoirs, the Pepacton and Canonsville dams. These dams produce one of the top tail water trout fisheries East of the Rockies. The cold water produces heavy insect hatches supporting a trophy trout population. This combination attracts fishermen from all over the country. The fishing is rarely easy here, but anglers have the opportunity to catch wild fish famous for their strength and fighting ability. Students will get to fish various areas in the Delaware system and hone their skills on some of the most selective trout found anywhere.
